RE: The Hero In You Foundation

Letter of Support

To Whom It May Concern,

This letter is in support of The Hero In You Foundation and its Rocket Rules program which provides safety education and emergency preparedness for young audiences.

The Hero In You Foundation and its noble aim of empowerment through knowledge presents children and community members with memorable learning experiences. By visiting schools, conducting presentations, and working with local organizations, the Foundation makes a strong impact in educating many different communities on important safety measures. With a curriculum that stretches across multiple mediums including games and music, integrating different teaching methods, the Rocket Rules program empowers all our children to be heroes at an early age.

The presentations given on fire prevention, earthquake preparedness, and climate change awareness are critical and necessary in cultivating an informed community. All these efforts being made by the Foundation are integral in opening up discussions on disaster prevention and inspiring youth to take action in mitigating any devastation that may be caused from disasters.

I am grateful for their support and for their tireless work in protecting the lives of our youth and students. The Hero In You Foundation will serve as a great influence in the San Fernando Valley, significantly benefiting youth in our schools, museums, libraries, and more.

Sincerely,

BOB BLUMENFIELD
